AIR-CONDITIONER

The current temperature is shown on the display in idle state, the desired temperature is only visible during adjustment. By pressing the arrow keys, you can set the desired temperature with an accuracy of 0.5 °C.

Due to the two-pipe system, the fan-coils in the building can only heat or cool, it is switched centrally to the one that is possible. The snowflake indicates the cooling option, the sun the heating option.

The fan speed is automatically set by the thermostat, it cannot be set manually.

If the thermostat is off, it will neither heat nor cool. When the balcony door is opened, the thermostat switches off automatically. If a lower temperature is set than the current one, but there is heating in the building, it cannot cool, although the same is true for the higher desired temperature when the building is in cooling mode.

Vál

The statue of LOVE

In the village of Vál is the monumental work of Ukrainian artist Alexander Milov, which he presented at the 2015 American Burning Man Festival and has enjoyed real world fame ever since. The artwork arrived to Hungary in 2017. The sight in front of us is truly monumental, as the statue is about 10 meters high and 16 meters wide.

The statue of LOVE depicts a woman and a man sitting opposite of each other formed of wires, and the two children “living” inside them facing each other, extending their hands towards each other.

Wires symbolize conflict between women and men, while children symbolize hugs, love, and feelings and longings for the other party.

Zsámbék

Temple Ruins

The ruins of the church are a torso of a three-aisled Basilica and monastery of Premontre monks, built between 1220 and 1234 in late Romanesque and early Gothic style. It was destroyed by the great earthquake in Komárom in 1763, and has not been rebuilt since. The original turret of the northwest tower was also destroyed, replaced by a tin canopy, much lower than the southeast tower which still has its original helmet. Currently, the interior of the ruin can also be visited. A stone storehouse can be seen in the vaulted hall of the former monastery.
